the 1990s, the number of people in the UK who are employed in the public sector has increased from 10.5 million to 12.5 million (12% of the population).

There are a number of reasons why the public sector has grown so rapidly. One of the main reasons is that the government has increased its spending on health, education and social services. This has led to a large increase in the number of people employed in these sectors.

Another reason is that the government has increased its spending on infrastructure. This has led to a large increase in the number of people employed in the construction and engineering sectors.

Finally, the government has increased its spending on research and development. This has led to a large increase in the number of people employed in the scientific and technological sectors.

The growth of the public sector has had a number of effects on the economy. One of the main effects is that it has created a large number of jobs. This has helped to reduce unemployment and has increased the standard of living.

Another effect is that it has increased the government's revenue. This has allowed the government to spend more on other areas of the economy. This has led to a more diversified and more resilient economy.

Finally, the growth of the public sector has led to a more equal distribution of income. This has helped to reduce poverty and has increased the overall well-being of the population.

In conclusion, the growth of the public sector in the UK has been a major factor in the country's economic success. It has created jobs, increased revenue, and led to a more equal distribution of income.

However, there are also some challenges associated with the growth of the public sector. One of the main challenges is that it has led to a large increase in government spending. This has led to a large increase in the national debt.

Another challenge is that it has led to a large increase in the size of the government. This has led to a large increase in bureaucracy and has made it more difficult to run the country.

Finally, the growth of the public sector has led to a large increase in the number of people who are employed in the public sector. This has led to a large increase in the number of people who are dependent on the government for their income.

In conclusion, the growth of the public sector in the UK has been a double-edged sword. It has created jobs and increased revenue, but it has also led to a large increase in government spending and a large increase in the size of the government.

It is therefore important to find ways to reduce government spending and to reduce the size of the government. This will help to reduce the national debt and to make the country more economically resilient.

One way to do this is to increase the efficiency of the public sector. This can be done by reducing bureaucracy and by increasing the number of people who are employed in the private sector.

Another way to do this is to increase the number of people who are employed in the public sector. This can be done by increasing the number of people who are employed in the health, education and social services sectors.

Finally, it is important to increase the number of people who are employed in the construction and engineering sectors. This can be done by increasing the number of people who are employed in the infrastructure sector.

the 1990s, the number of people with a mental health problem has increased in the UK (Mental Health Act 1983, 1990).

There is a growing awareness of the need to improve the lives of people with mental health problems. The Department of Health (1999) has set out a strategy for mental health care in the UK, which includes the following aims:

- To improve the lives of people with mental health problems.
- To reduce the need for hospital care.
- To improve the effectiveness of mental health services.
- To improve the way in which mental health services are funded.

The Department of Health (1999) has also set out a number of key principles for mental health care, which include the following:

- People with mental health problems should be treated as individuals.
- People with mental health problems should be given the opportunity to participate in decisions about their care.
- People with mental health problems should be given the opportunity to live in their own homes.
- People with mental health problems should be given the opportunity to work and to study.

The Department of Health (1999) has also set out a number of key objectives for mental health care, which include the following:

- To reduce the number of people with mental health problems who are in hospital.
- To improve the effectiveness of mental health services.
- To improve the way in which mental health services are funded.

The Department of Health (1999) has also set out a number of key actions for mental health care, which include the following:

- To improve the way in which mental health services are funded.
- To improve the way in which mental health services are delivered.
- To improve the way in which mental health services are evaluated.

The Department of Health (1999) has also set out a number of key messages for mental health care, which include the following:

- People with mental health problems should be treated as individuals.
- People with mental health problems should be given the opportunity to participate in decisions about their care.
- People with mental health problems should be given the opportunity to live in their own homes.

the 1990s, the number of people in the UK who are aged 65 and over has increased from 10.5 million to 13.5 million (19.5% of the population).

There is a growing awareness of the need to address the health care needs of the elderly population. The Department of Health (1998) has set out a strategy for the care of the elderly, which includes a commitment to improve the quality of care for the elderly.

The aim of this paper is to explore the experiences of elderly people who are living in care homes, and to identify the factors that influence their quality of life.

The paper is organized as follows. First, a brief overview of the care home sector is provided. Then, the research methodology is described. The findings are presented in three sections: the first describes the experiences of elderly people in care homes, the second discusses the factors that influence their quality of life, and the third discusses the implications of the findings for practice.

The paper concludes with a discussion of the implications of the findings for practice, and a list of references.

Background

The care home sector in the UK has grown significantly in the last few decades. In 1990, there were 1.5 million people living in care homes, and this number has risen to 2.5 million by 2000 (Department of Health, 2000).

The majority of people living in care homes are elderly, and many of them have long-term health problems. The care home sector is therefore a major provider of health care for the elderly population.

There is a growing awareness of the need to improve the quality of care in care homes. The Department of Health (1998) has set out a strategy for the care of the elderly, which includes a commitment to improve the quality of care for the elderly.

The aim of this paper is to explore the experiences of elderly people who are living in care homes, and to identify the factors that influence their quality of life.

The findings are presented in three sections: the first describes the experiences of elderly people in care homes, the second discusses the factors that influence their quality of life, and the third discusses the implications of the findings for practice.

The paper concludes with a discussion of the implications of the findings for practice, and a list of references.

Methodology

The research was conducted in a care home in the south of England. The care home was a residential care home for elderly people, and it had a capacity of 20 places.

The research was conducted over a period of 12 months. The data were collected through a series of focus group discussions, and through individual interviews with elderly people living in the care home.

The focus group discussions were conducted with groups of elderly people, and they lasted for approximately 45 minutes. The individual interviews were conducted with elderly people, and they lasted for approximately 30 minutes.

The data were analysed using a grounded theory approach. This approach involves identifying themes in the data, and then developing a theory that explains the relationships between these themes.

The findings of the research are presented in three sections: the first describes the experiences of elderly people in care homes, the second discusses the factors that influence their quality of life, and the third discusses the implications of the findings for practice.

The paper concludes with a discussion of the implications of the findings for practice, and a list of references.

Findings

The findings of the research are presented in three sections: the first describes the experiences of elderly people in care homes, the second discusses the factors that influence their quality of life, and the third discusses the implications of the findings for practice.

The paper concludes with a discussion of the implications of the findings for practice, and a list of references.

Conclusion

The findings of the research indicate that elderly people living in care homes experience a range of difficulties, and that these difficulties are influenced by a number of factors. The implications of these findings for practice are discussed in the final section of the paper.

The paper concludes with a discussion of the implications of the findings for practice, and a list of references.

Organic Best Practices: Pollinating

3 Boys Farm uses “in-house” pollinators, like the specially-ordered bees above. This avoids cross-pollination and contamination by any off-site non-organic and GMO crops.

RUSKIN - Robert Tomello is a laid-back environmentalist who's passionate about all things organic. He's a farmer at heart.

"This farm, to me, is kind of an expression of myself — ha... not to get philosophical," he said.

3 Boys Farm is named after his three sons. Everything on his 10-acre farm was picked to lessen the impact on the environment. Insect nets line the greenhouses, eliminating the need for pesticides. The large fans save energy.

A Model Of Conservation

A greenhouse grower mixes new and old technology to save water and energy.

When arable land is scarce and climate is a challenge, growing food becomes threatened — if not impossible. That's why countries like Israel and Japan have become pioneers growing crops under protected structures like greenhouses.

In Florida, during the summer months, fresh produce production pretty much shuts down. But, in the greenhouses of 3 Boys Farm in Ruskin, winter greens flourish while the heat of summer sizzles outside. Robert Tornello, 3 Boys owner, has channeled his passion, ingenuity, and knowledge gained by studying other greenhouse pioneers into establishing an operation that could be a model future farm. The project, which started two years ago, combines old and new to produce hydroponic crops with an eye toward conservation and energy efficiency. So much so that this year, 3 Boys was among those awarded the 2010 Agricultural Equipment Leadership Award from the Florida Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services.

“I have seen the future. I have stood in a greenhouse under a cascade of the bleach-white, blinding light of midsummer afternoon sun—the light not so much filtered as purified, enhanced by space-age polymer...cooled to the mid-70’s by the ingenious ventilation of a three-phase cooling fan system, powered mainly by solar energy. I have seen rows and rows of germinated summer seedlings, massive silos of recaptured rainwater, and tanks of organic plant food...I have seen the future. And the future is radical.”

Know All Persons by These Presents:

That we, the undersigned, Alabama Always, LLC (Full legal name of Principal), of the City of Montgomery, County of Montgomery, State of Alabama, as Principal, and Continental Heritage Insurance Company (Full legal name of Surety), of the City of Orange Village, County of Cuyahoga, State of Ohio, as Surety, are held and firmly bound and do hereby acknowledge our indebtedness to the State of Alabama, Alabama Medical Cannabis Commission, as Obligee (hereinafter, "the Commission"), in the sum of Two Million and No/100 Dollars ($2,000,000.00) payment of which we jointly and severally bind ourselves, our heirs, executors, administrators, successors and assigns, in accordance with the following terms and conditions:

1. The Surety possesses, at a minimum, an A rating and verified proof of such rating is attached hereto.
2. The Condition of the above obligation is such that the Principal has applied for the issuance or renewal of a license to engage in the business of an Integrated Facility under § 20-2A-67, Ala. Code 1975, and Rules 538-x-9-.01, et seq., of the Commission's Rules and Regulations. Said license and any renewals thereof are hereby incorporated into and made a part of this bond as though fully set forth herein.
3. Liability for the payment of this sum to which we hereby obligate and bind ourselves, our heirs, executors, administrators, successors and assigns, jointly and severally, becomes effective upon (a) The Commission's grant or renewal of a license to the Principal to operate as an Integrated Facility; and (b) Failure by the Principal to strictly comply with all applicable provisions of (and all orders, rules and regulations issued pursuant to) the Darren Wesley "Ato" Hall Compassion Act, § 20-2A-1, et seq., Ala. Code 1975, and the Principal's obligations thereunder; such compliance and obligations shall include, but shall not be limited to: (1) timely and successful completion of Principal's facilities construction, (2) timely and successful initiation and continuation of operations in compliance with all legal requirements and the Principal's attestations to the Commission, (3) timely and faithful payment of all fees, (4) maintenance of accurate books and records, (5) fulfillment of reporting requirements and cooperation with inspections, and (6) strict compliance with State tax requirements.
4. This Bond shall be deemed continuous in form and shall remain in full force and effect from the effective date (the later to occur of the Commission's granting a license to the Principal or the execution and engagement of this Bond) until such time as the Principal's license is withdrawn, terminates through voluntary or involuntary non-renewal, or is revoked by the Commission; except, however, that this Bond shall remain effective as to any of the Principal's acts or omissions that occur at any time while this Bond has been in force until its termination. This Bond may be canceled by the Surety upon 30 days' written notice to the Principal and the Commission.
5. If the Commission, as Obligee, determines that the Principal has failed to comply with the terms hereof, the Surety shall, upon demand in writing, make payment upon the bond in such amount as will cover any damages caused by said failure, plus any interest, costs, expenses and attorney fees of the Commission, up to the full amount of the Bond. In the event of the Surety's failure or refusal to pay, the Commission may proceed against the Principal or Surety herein, or both, to enforce a right of action on the bond. Any suit upon this Bond may be initiated in any court of competent jurisdiction against the Principal and/or the Surety after the passage of forty-five (45) days from the demand.

- 6. Regardless of the amount of time the Bond remains in effect, the amount or number of premiums paid, the number of renewals of the license, the number of claimants, or the number of claims made, the aggregate liability under this Bond shall not exceed the amount of this Bond.
- 7. The Principal and Surety agree that they shall not amend or modify the terms of this Bond without prior written consent of the Commission. The Surety hereby stipulates and agrees that no modifications, omissions or additions in or to the terms of the license or any renewals shall in any way affect the obligations of said Surety as to this Bond, and it does hereby waive notice of any such modifications, omissions or additional to the terms of the license or any renewals.

This Bond is executed in (City, County, State): Orange Village, Cuyahoga, Ohio

INDEPENDENT ACCOUNTANT'S REPORT

December 29, 2022

To the Alabama Medical Cannabis Commission:

We have examined the accompanying Projected No-Revenue Budget of Alabama Always, LLC (the Applicant), which comprises the projected capital budget as of December 31, 2022, 2023, 2024, 2025, and 2026, and the related projected no-revenue budget, and projected general and administrative expenses for the years then ended (Exhibit 7) based on the guidelines for the presentation of a projection established by the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants. Alabama Always, LLC 's management is responsible for preparing and presenting the projection based on the assumption of operating with the current contributed capital and no further revenue, in accordance with the guidelines for the presentation of a projection established by the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants. The projection was prepared in order to submit an application to the Alabama Medical Cannabis Commission. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on the projection based on our examination.

Our examination was conducted in accordance with attestation standards established by the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants. Those standards require that we plan and perform the examination to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the projection is presented in accordance with the guidelines for the presentation of a projection established by the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants, in all material respects. An examination involves performing procedures to obtain evidence about the projection. The nature, timing, and extent of the procedures selected depend on our judgment, including an assessment of the risks of material misstatement of the projection, whether due to fraud or error. We believe that the evidence we obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a reasonable basis for our opinion that the Company (Applicant) has accurately demonstrated that they have sufficient capital to operate without income for the first three full years after a license is issued to them as the Applicant.

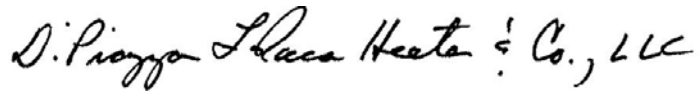

We performed additional procedures to provide additional assurance not typically required by examinations. We confirmed the beginning capital balances as of the date of this report directly with the financial institutions at which the funds were deposited.

In our opinion, assuming the Company operates with only the current contributed capital and no further revenue during the years stated above, the projection referred to above is presented, in all material respects, in accordance with the guidelines for the presentation of a projection established by the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants, and the underlying assumptions are suitably supported and provide a reasonable basis for management's projection given the hypothetical assumptions, and demonstrates that the Company has obtained sufficient capital to operate from December 31, 2022 through December 31, 2026.

Even if the Company to operates as expected, there will usually be differences between the projected and actual results because events and circumstances frequently do not occur as expected, and those differences may be material. We have no responsibility to update this report for events and circumstances occurring after the date of this report.

The accompanying projection and this report are intended solely for the information and use of the Alabama Medical Cannabis Commission, and are not intended to be and should not be used by anyone other than these specified parties.

I, Matthew Stewart, CPA, Audit Partner for DHLC CPA's and Advisors, hereby verify that the Applicant Company, Alabama Always, LLC has given us evidence that the source of their funds is the Company's bank account at Valley Bank which we have independently verified by contacting the Bank. Based on the foregoing analysis of the projections provided we hereby verify that the Company has accurately demonstrated that they have sufficient capital to operate without income for the first three full years after a license is issued to them as the Applicant. Therefore, the Applicant has "sufficient capital" as required by the Commission in Exhibit 7.

PART II. – FINANCIAL ABILITY

Exhibit 10 – Tax Plan.

Summary of Tax Plan

(see separate schedule attached for calculations)

The Applicant has identified its Finance Manager as a key position in the organization. The Finance Manager is responsible for all accounts payable including tracking and remittance of applicable local, state, and federal taxes.

Sales Tax:

As of January 1, 2022 Section 20-2A-80 requires that in addition to all the other taxes of every kind imposed by law, Alabama will levy a 9% tax on the gross proceeds of the sales of medical cannabis when sold at retail. These taxes will be charged to the customer, collected by the retail store at time of sale. The applicant's Finance Manager will collect and remit the 9% tax on the gross proceeds monthly and in accordance with 2018 Code of Alabama Title 40 - Revenue and Taxation Chapter 23-Sales and Use Taxes, Article 1- Sales Tax Division 1 General Provisions.

In addition to the state taxes imposed, there will be local (city and county) sales taxes based on the location of each retail facility. These taxes will be charged to the customer, collected by the retail store at time of sale, and submitted monthly to the State, City, and Local governments that preside over the facility. The Company's proforma reflects the anticipated sales tax to be collected and remitted.

The Applicant has obtained a memorandum from Beth Beville, Director of Finance for the City of Montgomery. The City of Montgomery will only issue business licenses to Integrated Facilities Applicants for business/corporate offices only until such time as we are licensed. Upon receipt of our licenses as an Integrated Facilities, we will apply for a Certificate of Occupancy as a retail establishment. The City of Montgomery Revenue Division will upgrade our certified licenses activities accordingly. At that time, the Company will establish an account for the remittance of local taxes.

The applicant has five (5) retain locations leased or under a Letter of Intent based on licensure. The applicant will obtain a certificate of occupancy from the local Revenue Divisions, set up accounts for the remittance of local taxes, and remit taxes as required by local law.

Privilege Tax:

Alabama will levy an annual privilege tax, calculated in the same manner and rate under Section 40-14A- 22. The privilege tax return will be calculated, filed and paid at the time that the business entity tax returns will be due (on or around March 15 of each calendar year). The Company's proforma reflects the budgeted amount of privilege tax to be remitted.

Income Tax:

The entity is structured as an LLC taxed as a partnership. The income from the LLC will be passed through to the members on their respective K-1s. The tax on any net income will be assessed at the individual level and paid with each member's individual income tax return. The data included in the Company's proforma reflect budgeted distributions to members expected to be made to cover the tax on the budgeted income amounts.

The Finance Manager will prepare year end profit and loss statements. In cooperation with the Managing Member of the Company's ownership group, each member of the LLC will receive IRS form K-1's showing the owner members personal taxable income. Under Federal Section 280E, only Cost of Good Sold expenses will be allowed as an offset to Sales Revenue in calculating the amount of income that will be subject to income taxes. The K-1s will reflect each members' share of income after these limitations have been applied.

The Applicant has contracted with DiPiazza LaRocca Heeter & Co, LLC (DLHCPA), a reputable accounting firm serving Alabama. The CPA firm includes a partner who works primarily in the area of tax planning. Our tax matter partners at DLHCPA and the Company’s managing partner are responsible for assuring the federal taxes and privilege taxes are paid.

Revenue Manager

DATE: December 17, 2022

RE: Restrictions Imposed Upon City of Montgomery Medical Cannabis Commission
Dispensary/ Integrated Facility Business License

One of the City of Montgomery's purposes for licensing businesses within its corporate city limits is to manifest its mandate to protect the public, provide for the safety, preserve health, promote prosperity, and improve the morals, order, comfort, and convenience of the inhabitants of the city and others transacting business with the city's business licensees. In consideration of this fact, along with the provision found in the Code of Ordinance, Chapter 16 §16-73(8) regarding regulated businesses, the city can only issue a business license for the activities of a Cannabis Dispensary/Integrated Facility when an Alabama Medical Cannabis Commission (AMCC) regulatory license/ certification has been awarded and issued to applicants.

However, we are currently issuing business licenses to the local Alabama Medical Cannabis Commission's cannabis dispensary/integrated facility applicants for their business/corporate offices only. After the said applicant has procured and submitted to the City of Montgomery Revenue Division, a Certificate of Occupancy (which will be issued by the City of Montgomery Inspections Department), the business license application packet, will be processed by the City of Montgomery Revenue Division.

Once an applicant receives the required state-regulated licensure to operate such facilities and/or other regulated cannabis-related businesses, the City of Montgomery Revenue Division will upgrade certified license activities accordingly. Please note, applicants will be required to pay the City of Montgomery additional fees for the certified activity upgrades.
